	EIR - I wish to enquire on the following information regarding the approval of 'with care' facilities. I am currently doing a review of how the 15 National Parks within the UK are classifying this use. In particular, we are focusing on the use of Certificates of Lawfulness to amend usages from a C3a Dwellinghouse to C3b for up to 6 individuals with an element of care. We are looking to understand if the National Parks are allowing these facilities to be approved through as a change of use from C3a to C3b via a delegated decision or whether a strict policy of full C2 planning application is required? 1) How many Certificates of Lawfulness have been submitted for a change of use from C3a to C3b in the past 5 years? 2) How many Certificates of Lawfulness have been approved for a change of use from C3a to C3b in the past 5 years? 3) How many applications have been submitted for C2 residential care homes in the past 5 years? 4) How many applications have been approved for C2 residential care homes in the past 5 years? 5) What is the fastest time a Certificate of Lawfulness has been approved in the past 5 years? 6) How many Certificate of Lawfulness applications have been approved without appearance on a weekly list? 7) How many Certificates of Lawfulness applications have been 'called in' for planning committee review by members following appearance on the weekly lists?
